About Jabalpur

Jabalpur is one of the most historical and cultural cities of India popularly known as "Sanskardhani". At south-west of the city, flows the holy river Narmada through Marble rocks of Bhedaghat. It was a waterfall-"Dhuandhar" which is the symbol of nature's force at it's best. Pisanhari ki Madhiya, Dayodaya Ashram, Bargi Dam, Balancing Rock are some other tourist places.

About the Conference

The economic reforms initiated in 1991 have contributed significantly to the inflow of FDI in India. FDI supplements, to a great extent, the domestic capital mobilization, technology up-gradation, infrastructure development, development of industries, enhancing both technical skills and managerial capabilities. FDI has become a game of numbers where the justification for growth and progress is the money that flows in and not the specific problems plaguing the individual sub sectors.

The two-day Conference on the theme Foreign Direct Investment : Indian Market Invasion and Economic Reforms seeks to provide participants a critical understanding of the role of FDI in India and its impact on the Indian economy. It is expected that the deliberations at the Conference will help the regulatory bodies and government to formulate policies in this regard.

The Conference will also provide an opportunity to delegates to enrich their knowledge as well as to interact with eminent speakers, corporate representatives and government officials. The researchers, academicians, corporate and government officials are hereby invited to submit their Research Papers on the sub topics to be covered in the different Technical Sessions during the Conference.
